

Olga Moucoulis was born and raised in San Antonio and is a second generation American. After graduating High School, she attended the University of the Incarnate Word where she received her Bachelors in Communications and then went on to get her Master of Education from Our Lady of The Lake University. She began working in the corporate world at USAA, but there was something missing. This is where her teaching career began in NISD as the PPCD teacher in 2006. In 2009 she joined the Edgewood family as the Resource Teacher at Las Palmas Elementary and then was asked to oversee the Head Start Special Education population. In 2013 she moved over to Central Office working for the Superintendent of Schools. After spending 4 years in Central Office she went back to her first love...Special Education. Where she was the 18 + Transition Coordinator for the district. While in that position she was able to create a Burlson Boutique and Warehouse, Coffee Shop and Bike Repair Program for her students. She strongly believes that all students have the potential and ability to achieve their lifelong goals, despite their disabilities. While her heart will always be in Special Education she wanted to do more for the students and community she has come to love and call family. She moved back to Central Office as the Executive Director of Industry and Community Partnerships. In this position she will be able to continue serving and supporting all of the Edgewood Community.
